

Flickr Note Web Links

By Daniel J. Wilson
<http://blog.wilsonet.com>

Concept Overview:
Allow users to add web links to their notes which are activated by viewers clicking within the rectangular frame.

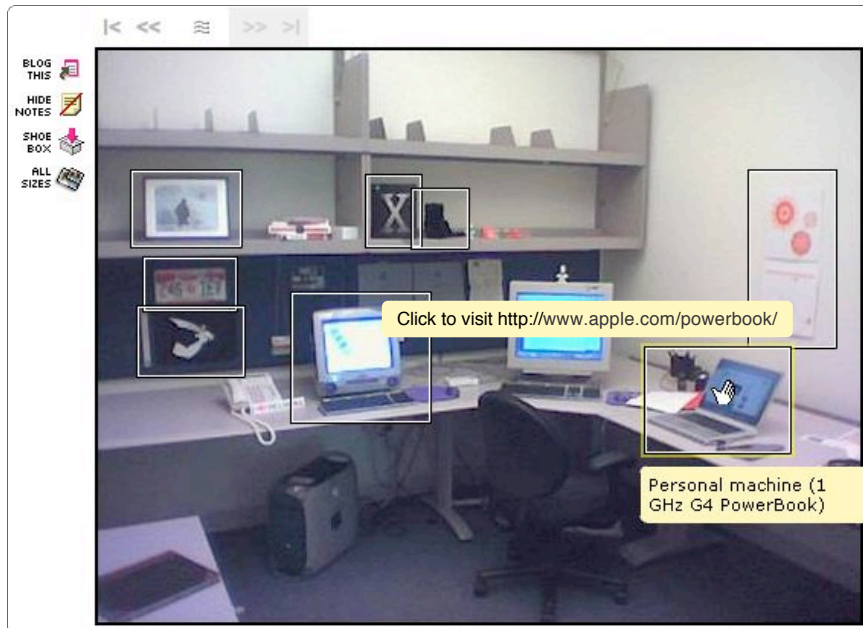

Adding a Link

One link per note would keep the interface simple for both the creator and others.

For the editing interface, it would probably be best to place the URL input field between the note text input field and the buttons. Adding labels to the fields would also be a good idea. Notice the use of the Flickr pink! Your branding shall not go to waste!

Viewing and Activating the Link

This is how links would appear to visitors. A single click within the rectangle would open the URL in the existing browser window.